FRENCH BOARDING SCHOOL

American Girls Have Little Conception of Strict Rules Enforced in These Institutions.

American girls have no conception of the restrictions of a French boarding school, says Jeanne Constatin, in Good Housekeeping. True, many of them are sent there to be educated, but generally to a cosmopolitan school where rules are few, the programme lighter and teachers more lenient; in a word, a school made to order for foreigners! The big girls sleep in dormitories, eight or ten little beds, separated by white curtains; the little girls in a room with a teacher. At seven, when the bell rings, they all have to get up and air their beds, then they go to the lavatory, where they all wash together, each one having her own basin and little drawer for brush and comb. The little ones go to a teacher to have their hair combed and braided. Then back to the dormitory, where they make up their beds. Clothes are kept upstairs, a servant bringing down what the pupil needs. So having nowhere to hide precious treasures, they generally are tucked away safely under one's bolster. Another bell, and each girl passes by a teacher, who examines her nails, sees that no buttons are missing from her shoes, etc. Then follow prayers in the little chapel. Meanwhile a teacher looks over the beds, and if any is found badly made, everything is taken off and the pupil is sent back to make it over again. From prayers the girls go down to breakfast: a bowl of cafe au lait with bread and butter. Directly after breakfast school begins, lasting till 12, with recess of 20 minutes at 10:30. The school-rooms are unattractive, sometimes too cold or too warm, for schools, like all public buildings, railroads, etc., are heated the first of November and fire is stopped the first of April regardless of the thermometer. In the old-fashioned provincial boarding school the studies are not presented in an interesting way. The teachers are paid very little, they come generally from the same little town or a neighboring one, have seen nothing of the world, and teach as they have been taught.

BARNACLES HELPED JAPS.

Reason Why Russians Were Defeated on Water May Be Partly Laid to False Bottoms.

One of the contributory causes to the defeat of the Russian fleet was the impossibility of going into dry dock after the passage of the tropical waters.

The plentiful marine growths, both animal and vegetable, of the warm waters near the equator attach themselves to a ship's bottom in the course of a few weeks and the ship loses both speed and dirigibility.

When a British ship on the West India station was broken up a few years ago more than 80 tons of barnacles were removed from her bottom; while an American frigate of only 800 tons register had 30 car loads of barnacles scraped from her bottom after a stay of but eight months in the warm latitudes.

During the passage of the Red sea and the Indian ocean it is probable that the Russian fleet picked up enough marine growth to reduce its speed by at least one-fourth, while a ship with a foul bottom is much less quick in answering the helm.

It is not probable that the result would have been other than it was in any event, but had the fleet got into action with clean bottoms the Japanese loss would have been far greater.

MR. DOOLEY: "HER" STORY

Writer Tells of Bear Cub Which Exhibited Great Liking for Family at Yellowstone Park.

A few years ago, Mr. Walker, of the Yellowstone Park, while on horseback, ran down a silver-tip cub, and when I sketched it the cub was fastened to a tree, relates Dan Beard, in Recreation.

The cub was named Mr. Dooley, but there was some mistake in this, as the young monster was not a mister, though, as it appears "he" was a she.

I placed my sketching stool just out of reach of the cub, and, while I worked with my pencil, Mr. Dooley spent "his" time scraping the dirt with his paws, making long canals in the loose earth as "he" backed away, but all the time keeping "his" wicked little pig eyes fastened on me.

Every once in awhile "he" would make a sudden rush at me and end it with a half-strangled gurgling growl.

When the season was over, the commander of the post stated that he intended to send Mr. Dooley to the Washington zoo. This grieved Mr. Walker, until the late Maj. Bach innocently asked if Dooley never escaped, and the next morning it was discovered that Dooley had escaped.

Next spring when Mrs. Walker arrived with her husband at the canyon, to open the hotel, Dooley was waiting to greet them on the broad veranda.

An Inspired Idiot.

Reuben Fields, the Johnson county mathematician, who is considered by many to be an idiotic wonder, stopped at a hotel in a small town in Henry county recently. As usual in such places, there were a number of drummers on hand; there was also a meeting of some medical men at the place who used the hotel as headquarters. One of the doctors thought it would be quite a joke to tell Fields that some of the M. D.'s had concluded to kidnap him and take out his brains to learn how it was he was so good in mathematics. He was then asked by them what he was going to do about it. Fields replied: "I will go on without brains, just like you doctors are doing."—Oak Grove (Mo.) Banner.

Estate of Leroy L. Hill, Deceased.

In the Probate Court of Lafayette County, Mo., November Term, 1905.

To James Hill, if living, and if dead, then to his Widow and Heirs at Law, if any; also to Leroy Hill and Frances Middleton, all of whom are part of the heirs at law of Leroy L. Hill, deceased, and who are all non-residents of the State of Missouri.

You are hereby notified that I, M. D. Wilson, former Public Administrator of Lafayette County, Mo., and as such in charge of the estate of Leroy L. Hill, deceased, will apply to the Probate Court of Lafayette County, Mo., at the next November term, to be held and commenced on November 13, 1905, for an order of final distribution of the balance of the assets in my hands as such Administrator on final settlement of said estate. Any one are notified to appear in said court on November 13, 1905, if you desire to make objections to the order of distribution to be made in said estate at that time.

M. D. WILSON,
Former Public Administrator of Lafayette County, Mo., and as such having in charge the estate of Leroy L. Hill, deceased.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

STATE OF MISSOURI,
County of Lafayette, ss.

In the Circuit Court of Lafayette County, Missouri, December term 1905, at Lexington.

Matina Nicholas, Plaintiff vs.
Rudolph Nicholas, Defendant

In the Circuit Court of Lafayette County, Missouri, at Lexington, August term 3rd day, August 9th, 1905.

Now at this day comes the plaintiff herein, and files her petition and affidavit, alleging, and she prays that the said defendant, among other things, that the said defendant is a non-resident of the state of Missouri; Whereupon the Court makes the following order to-wit: To the said Rudolph Nicholas, non-resident of the state of Missouri, you are hereby notified that the said plaintiff has commenced a suit against you in this court, the object and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from you on the grounds of desertion for one whole year last past prior to the filing of this petition, and that unless the said Rudolph Nicholas be and appear at this court, at the next term thereof, to be begun and holden at the court house, in the city of Lexington in said county, on the 14th day of December next, and on or before the first day of said term, if the term shall so long continue, and if not, then on or before the last day of said term, answer or plead to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed, and judgment will be rendered accordingly.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in the Lexington Intelligencer, a newspaper published in said county of Lafayette for four weeks successively, published at least once a week the last issue to be at least five days before the first day of the next December term of this court.

A true copy. Attest—
(Sd.) J. H. CAMPBELL, Circuit Clerk.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

In the Probate Court of Lafayette County, Missouri, September term, 8th day, Wednesday, September 20th, 1905.

Estate of Francis A. McClure, deceased.

Now at this day comes W. D. Menz, public administrator in charge of the estate of Francis A. McClure, deceased, and presents his petition praying for an order for the sale of so much of the real estate of said Francis A. McClure as will pay and satisfy the remaining debts due by said estate and unpaid for want of sufficient assets, accompanied by the accounts, lists and inventories required by law in such cases.

On examination whereof it is ordered that all persons interested in said estate be notified that application as aforesaid has been made, and that unless the contrary be shown on or before the first day of the next term of this court, to be held on the second Monday in November 1905, an order will be made for the sale of the whole or so much of the real estate of said Francis A. McClure as will be sufficient for the payment of said debts.

And it is further ordered that all of the heirs of said deceased, residents of said Lafayette County, be personally served with notice of these proceedings according to law.

And it is further ordered that this notice be published in the Lexington Intelligencer, a newspaper published in said county for four weeks successively before the commencement of the next term of this court.

A true copy. Attest—
(Sd.) JAMES P. CHINN, Probate Judge.
